

MYSTERY CLOUDS THE LIFE AS WELL AS TRAGIC DEATH OF THE 'GIRL IN THE BALL ROOM GOWN'

Beautiful Ruth Tolvan, whose frozen body was found at Surfside, near Hull, was mysteriously silent about herself, during her visits with friends at Roxbury. She clutched her purse, day and night, and brooded almost continuously.

Chester Merigold, of Nantasket, heard a woman's screams near Surfside Sunday night.

Above is a perspective of Nantasket Beach and a diagram of an automobile trail leading down from Sagamore Hill to where the body was found. There were finger prints on the wheels of the dead woman. Her shoes were missing and her purse and personal papers were scattered about. Friends say she feared a snail.

Ervin Cowing found the automobile tracks on the beach near where the body was found.

Miss Falyton Cheebokkian, Somerville school teacher, helped to identify Ruth. The two were friends and they first met at New York where both were delegates to an Armenian Red Cross convention. Ruth's parents were victims in the Armenian massacres.

HUNT FOR 'BALLROOM GOWN GIRL'S' PARTNER IN FATAL HULL TRYST

she was to order an engagement ring from a jewelry store.

"She told me that the young lady was to be married soon, but Miss Tolvan did not appear very cheerful about it. Something seemed to trouble her. In the end they found no ring to fit her, and they left, with Mrs. Hikenian saying they would be in New York soon anyway and could easily find what they wanted."

"I thought it strange the girl was buying her own engagement ring, but her companion said it was an old custom."

Mrs. Harry Ashokan, her cousin, of No. 3 Canard street, Roxbury, declared that Ruth, though she did not tell her of her friend's husband, as she had told relatives in Rochester, N. Y., did not appear about her money.

"She kept her purse strong in her wrist and did not let it down once," she said. "She put it under her pillow and slept on it, and it seemed very strange to me."

Shortly before the former Ballroom teacher vanished from the home of Mrs. Ashokan she said she had an engagement to meet a person she referred to as a "friend."

"Her relatives here do not believe it was a cousin, but rather a young man, whose identity is unknown to them, but whom she had referred to as a friend on previous visits to Boston."

One of the dead young woman's pumps was found today on the beach, a short distance from the body.

It was a bronze pump with a high, narrow heel, with brown leather trimmings, and was easily identified as that of Ruth Tolvan from a description given the police by Mrs. Ashokan.

CLOTHING MISSING.

Second in importance only to the hunt for the Boston youth was the search for the authorities launched for the dark, reddish brown coat, shoes and hat. The coat was found when she left Roxbury, but which has not yet been found.

Her frozen body, as it was found on the beach, was clothed in a ball room gown of deep purple, but it was coatless.

Chief of Police Reynolds of Hull has asked the aid of the public in finding the coat, in the belief that information as to where it was left by the supposed slayer will be of extreme value to the authorities in solving the mystery.

The coat was of cloth, with a small fur collar.

"The shoes," said Mrs. Aoyrian, "were very high heeled tan pumps; no straps breaching the instep. She wore a dark red felt hat, front turned up. She also had on a coat, dark brown in color, with a light light brown fur collar attached. The sleeves of it were plain."

DECRY SCHEME THEORY.

Notwithstanding the statement made in New York by Arthur Remerjian, a Fifth avenue jeweler, who branded the young woman a suicide because of unrequited love, the authorities of Hull, Plymouth County and the State believe Miss Tolvan met her death at the hands of another.

"She simply couldn't understand," said Remerjian, admitting he was the object of the unrequited love. "Like many girls, her mind was on marriage, a home and children."

"One day she expressed her love for me. That was natural."

"She couldn't take a hint and did not seem to care what I said or did to make her break away from the idea that some day I might marry her."

"She was forever telling me how much she loved me. It got on my nerves and finally I told her to go away where she would forget."

The jeweler's story verified in part that of Mrs. A. C. Kunkinian of Roxbury, N. Y., who said that Ruth told her that she loved a man very much. But the dead girl also said the man promised to return her love, but she suspected, for certain reasons, that he wanted her money.

Mrs. Remerjian was not told the name of the man that Miss Tolvan spoke of.

CONFIRMS DEATH TRIST.

A refutation was made today by the Rochester woman of her statement that Ruth told her she had been threatened with death.

Analysis of the stomach of the victim was being made today in a search for traces of poison.

In letters written to Mrs. Taylor Cheebokkian of Somerville, while she was in Rochester late in February, the girl also gave a hint of her troubles and her fear.

"When I see you I am going to tell you all that has happened to me," she wrote. "I know if I go to New York or Boston, people will talk, but I don't care what people will say."

Mrs. Cheebokkian, the woman who made the first formal identification of the remains.

The first letter, written from Rochester, February 17, was translated from the Armenian language by Mrs. Cheebokkian as follows:

"I have been five weeks with my aunt. I have been looking for work, but in vain, for there is nothing in my life here."

I have been thinking of going to Boston for a long time. Can you find out if I can get work there in the dressmaking line? If I cannot find a job here, I am thinking of leaving Rochester for a while."

I hope you will answer "Yes" or "No."

If I cannot find anything here, I will first go to New York City and then try to find a job, but I am going to Boston anyway, soon."

The Somerville woman answered that the young or summer would be a better time to come to Boston.

EXPECTS GOSPEL.

In the second letter, which was mailed in Rochester, February 17, the girl wrote:

"Dear Friend: I have just received your letter. I am glad to know that all of your folks are in good health, especially in my circumstances. My first impressions are always lasting and I feel deeply attached to you."

"If I go to New York or Boston, people will talk, but I don't care what people will say. When I see you, I am going to tell you all that has happened to me. Affectionately yours."

RUTH: Mrs. Cheebokkian ridiculed the suicide theory and also declared she would like to know how her young friend's stockings came to be torn, as they were when the body was found.

The kind of the dead young woman having regularly sent her mother in Constantinople money and agreed that she had contemplated suicide, she would have sent her mother, finally, all her savings, amounting to $2,000, instead of leaving the sum in a bank here.

"Ruth was a very well-balanced girl," she said. "She was calm and cool-blooded and not the emotional type of woman who might commit suicide because of love or fear."

"I have visited her in New York and noted always that she was very neat, and while I realize that the water and sand on the beach may have very holes in the stockings still I cannot help wondering about it."

"I cannot credit the suicide theory for a moment. If anything, it is murder."

"Ruth came to a very distinguished family in Armenia. Seven of her brothers and her father lost their lives in the massacres, leaving her mother alone with a sister and one brother. The family lost their money and were in straitened circumstances, so that financial aid from Russia was necessary."

"She came to America about four years ago, where it was easiest to find work, because a garment worker and dressmaker. She made good money and saved a large part of it. TOLD OF SWEETHEART.

"She worked in Rochester, N. Y., at first, then went to New York, making occasional trips to Boston and neighboring places and working here for short periods."

"She told me of a sweetheart, and said that his mother and sister objected to a marriage. The last time I went to New York, I found her changed in mood, and she had moved away from the Y. W. C. A., where she had always lived."

"Ruth was not the kind of a girl to accept an automobile ride from a stranger. If she met anybody and went to ride with him, it was somebody she was acquainted with."

Reports of the girl's state of mind as told by her friends in Roxbury and those alleged to have been told by Semerjian are at variance.

"Why any one should have made such a brutal attack upon me is beyond my comprehension, and I cannot think that there was anything about the appearance of my assailant which would lead me to consider him a lunatic."

Miss McEachern, assailed on the doorstep of her mother's house, didn't know she was wounded until she got inside.

After the man grabbed her, Miss McEachern said, he scurried down the steps as if nothing unusual had happened, and walked an ordinary pace down Beacon street toward Charles street. The police learn that he entered the Public garden and strolled around until he met his next victim, Mrs. Tuckerman.

Wilmoth, representing the "spirit," and a member of the Jehovahs, a religious cult, here to "come down to earth," and pay $80 a month to support his wife and twin babies. Wilmoth said: "I am six months old and of the spirit of the world."

MALDEN'S 'APOLLO' PROVES HE'S STRONG, BUT HE'S TERRIBLY SHY WITH GIRLS

Winfred S. Turner, Nashua's 'Mr. Apollo', headed for movie. He's strong for gym workouts. The high school athlete spends much time in the gym. He believes in keeping fit. George likes to box. The Malden youth packs a mean wallop, his gym pals claim. However, a ring career is not his goal at present. George Fingold. He challenges Turner's claim to the 'Mr. America' title.

"Miss Boston" wishes "Mr. Apollo" all the luck in the world.

MOVIE CAREER OFFERED TO "APOLLO"

The movies have opened as a natural niche into which George Turner, Nashua's 19-year-old high school "Apollo," may fall, and today George, the glibly athlete chosen "Apollo" by those same girls, is seriously considering a career of floundering on the screen.

A perfect specimen of man, George is Greater Boston's representative in human beauty as against the claims to fame of Winfred S. Turner, "Mr. America," of Nashua, N. H., just as Nina Wolfe is the city's beauty to match against Fay Lanphier, "Miss America."

An offer to send George through movie school for six months and then give him a contract at his 1. week has been made the high school athlete by the Metro-Goldwyn Mayer Corporation, and George is floundering in the mist the last career he had planned.

Young Fingold, according to the physical director at the Nashua Y. M. C. A., is well deserving of the title "Apollo" conferred upon him by the girls he elects away from him. Here are his measurements:

Height—5 feet 1 inch.
Weight—163 pounds.
Neck—14½ inches.
Shoulders—31½ inches.
Chest—Normal, 38 inches; expanded, 39 inches.
Biceps—13 inches.

Wrist—6½ inches.
Waist—30½ inches.

An appeal to Governor Fuller to commute to life imprisonment the death sentence of Richard Stewart (Cambridge) is being prepared by attorney James C. Riley of Lowell, counsel for the prisoner.

On August 28, 1933, Stewart killed William James while the latter was asleep. He carried the body to a well, tossed it in and covered it with rocks.

Stewart, it was testified in court, was in love with the victim's wife. This was the motive given for the crime.

HUNT CORBETT GIRL IN TROY

Troy, N. Y., March 10.—Troy police today began an investigation into the report that Alice M. Corbett of Utica, missing Smith College girl, is working as a domestic for a prominent Troy family.

The investigation follows admission by Harry F. Whitton, Troy attorney, that he has been retained by clients who believe that the girl in their employ is the missing student for whom a reward of $1,000 has been offered.

Immediately after James H. Corbett of Utica, father of the missing student, learned of the report, he talked with Whitton over the telephone. Whitton, it is said, admitted to Corbett he had been retained by clients he could not name to investigate and assure their title to the reward.

Whitton told Corbett his clients are sure the girl is the one who disappeared from the Massachusetts college at Northampton on November 15.

The Troy residents who are seeking the reward are understood to be former residents of Boston familiar with Miss Corbett's strange disappearance.

BANS ICE FOR NEW YORK DRINKERS

New York, March 10 (A.P.)—A ban on cracked ice, slush and similar accessories to drinking in public places is suggested by Federal Judge Knott as a condition under which a restaurant may avoid padlocking.

Considering the Belgrade restaurant, which faced a year's padlocking, Judge Knott said he might allow the place to remain open under these restrictions:

Night closing time not later than 1 o'clock, serving of all "crack ice," refusal to furnish mineral water, cracked ice and other accessories to patrons and admission of Federal agents without search warrants at all times.

Infraction of any of these rules would clamp a padlock on the front door and make the management liable to fine or prison sentence.

Federal District Attorney Emory R. Backner, speaking before the Life Underwriters' Association, said that day, if they could not set complete enforcement from the state, should be satisfied with State prohibition of all liquor but wine and beer.

Such a State enforcement act, he said, "would help us in New York City to clean up the dumps and dives and rendezvous of crooks, where the vilest of outlaw liquor is sold."

It's Up to Brides to Save Niagara Falls' Beauty

Chicago, March 10 (A.P.)—Preventing Niagara Falls from losing its beauty is an immediate concern of the United States and all prospective brides and grooms. In the opinion of Secretary Herbert Hoover.

Surveys of army engineers, Secretary Hoover said, show the falls are slowly cutting a deep gash in the rock escarpment and unless measures are taken, the waterfall probably will become a turbulent rapid.

"The beauty of the falls should be preserved," he declared, "for no other reason, for the sake of the thousands of honeymooners who go there."

The dinner was given at the home of Col. Alexander Williams, who was superseded by Gen. Butler as commander of the local marine base. Gen. Butler recently resigned as municipal director of public safety in Philadelphia.

When asked about the affair, Gen. Butler said:

"The matter is in the hands of headquarters and I can say nothing until I receive orders from there."

Col. Williams also declined to discuss the incident.

In addition to reporting the affair, Gen. Butler is said to have addressed a number of marine officers on the matter, referring to the fact that each of them had taken oath to support the Constitution of the United States.

HOPE THERE TO FIND BODY OF VALET

Sands Believed to Have Died After Flight Following Movie Slaying

Hartford, Ct., March 10.—A four-year-old grave on the outskirts of this city may contain the solution of the mystery surrounding the murder in Los Angeles of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director, it was learned today.

According to information from Los Angeles, the renewed investigation of the famous murder by District Attorney Amos Kroyer has led to the grave which it is thought may contain the remains of Edward F. Sands, Taylor's valet.

Sands, who dropped out of sight at the time of the murder, in 1932 is believed to have been the unidentified man who killed himself at Wareham Point, a few miles above this city.

Dr. Joseph A. Conner, medical examiner at the time of the murder, who viewed the body, was impressed with a similarity of the man's physical characteristics with those described in a notice sent out for the apprehension of Sands.

Dr. Conner says he still believes the man was Sands, and hopes the Los Angeles police will send him a photograph. They were notified of the finding of the body, but made no reply.

District Attorney Kroyer alleged visit to the grave is said to have been prompted by a letter purporting to have been from Sands, in which the murder of Taylor was confessed. This letter was received some four years ago.

It is believed the body will be exhumed.

The child called her mother, who arrived just as the flames were making their appearance, and carried the little girl into her own room. When the firemen arrived they took Dorothy into the home of a neighbor, and then extinguished the blaze. The damage was estimated at $1,000. The fire is believed to have been caused by a spark from the chimney.

CONVICTS FIRE AT GUARDS; FLEE

Atlanta, Ga., March 10 (A.P.)—Search today spread over five southern states, for three Patton County convicts, members of a party of six who mutilated, wounded three guards and two convicts and escaped in an automobile they seized from two Atlanta society women.

One of the guards, P. H. Newman, and one of the convicts, H. L. Davis, are in hospital here with serious injuries. They may die.

The mutiny was staged when a party of convicts in charge of the guards was returning in a motor truck to a convict camp from the day's work. Three of the convicts at a signal suddenly wrested a pistol from F. F. Barfield, a guard, and fired all the shots in it at Newman, five of them taking effect.

PHILADELPHIA SCHOOLS TO AID "OLD IRONSIDES"

Following the lead of the Boston Public School Board, the Philadelphia School Committee has voted to permit the collection among the school children of that city for "Old Ironsides." This permission was granted through the efforts of Charles Grant Miller, who was instrumental in getting similar permission in New York city. CHOWDER FAMINE LOOMS! CLAMMER MAY STRIKE

Onset, March 10 (A.P.)—The Cape Cod clam today joined in the movement to push the cost of living up. The clamshoppers of Buzzards Bay served notice on the dealers that they would stop digging unless the price went up to $1 a peck. The clam price is 50 cents.

O. R. B. Bessie of Onset, a dealer, made public the demands of the clamshoppers. The attitude of the dealers was not announced. The clamshoppers, Bessie said, based their demands on the increased cost of living since the war.

It was said a shortage of clam chowder in Brockton, Boston, New Bedford and other cities would result if the clamshoppers carried out their threat, as Cape Cod and Buzzards Bay points are the main sources of the Massachusetts clam supply.

and beer modification and nine against.

The first day's returns in Boston showed six hundred votes in favor of modification of the national prohibition law to permit manufacture and sale of light wines and beer and only two in favor of its retention.

In the same block of votes fifty-seven were not in favor of the present law and only three in favor. Of these forty-one voted in favor of local option and sixteen against. Fifty-two favored modification of the Volstead act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer with 24 per cent. of alcoholic content and twice opposed.

Returns throughout the country showed 179,293 votes in favor of light wines and beer and 24,013 in favor of the law as it now stands. The demand in favor of a change was overwhelming except in New Mexico where sentiment seemed to be about evenly divided.

NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST TRUST COMPANY

The Gift Tax established in 1924 has been repealed by Act of Congress February 26, 1926

A Living Trust for Your Son

Advantages of a Living Trust

1. Becomes effective immediately.
2. Relief from care.
3. A flexible form of trust.
4. Income tax often lowered.
5. Income payable regularly.
6. Supervision of investments.

I RECOMMEND that you set aside securities, the income from which will be sufficient to provide for your son's personal expenses, education and business training. You can place these securities in a Living Trust, naming the OLD COLONY TRUST COMPANY trustee.

Every man with a son, wife, or daughter, requiring a regular allowance, will find that a living trust is very satisfactory. Unnecessary friction that often develops over the family money question is eliminated and the individual receiving such income enjoys a new sense of pride and responsibility.

Living Trusts can now be established without incurring the penalty of a Gift Tax.

Such trusts may be started with a moderate amount and additions made from time to time.

Our folder, "LIVING TRUSTS," discusses this form of trust in a manner that is easily understood and directly to the point.

BIG AUTO YEAR Predicted by C. W. NASH

Business More Conservative, Though Growing, He Tells N. E. Dealers

"Nineteen and Twenty-Six will be the greatest year in the history of the automobile industry," declared C. W. Nash, president of the Nash Motors Company and the Alfa Romeo Company, to more than 250 New England dealers at the luncheon given by C. P. Rockwell, Inc., at the Copley-Plaza Hotel today.

Mr. Nash was the principal speaker and prepared his prediction with the progress made by his own company since it took over the Jeffrey plant nine years ago.

He stated that it had manufactured 2,800 Nash and Alfa cars during 1925, which represented a money volume of $37,000,000. This was 10 per cent greater than the company's 1924 business.

"General conditions in all business throughout the country are better than they have been since before the war," said Mr. Nash.

"All industry is more conservative and merchants are careful that they do not have the same thing happen to them as in 1920."

"Steel mills are running to capacity. The farmer is enjoying soundly renewed confidence. The foreign field today is as fertile a market as was America twelve years ago, and with the increased interest everywhere in good roads we may expect to see."

"South America, Australia and Europe shortly to a great extent, the production for which there is no demand in the United States. Australia, probably leads the export list now. Sweden is fast developing into one of our best markets as the South America."

BROOKS-SKINNER GARAGES POPULAR

The construction of more than 15,000 garages in the last 12 years by this Quincy Company offers their customers savings from 23 to 40 per cent.

The popular two-car wood garages built by the Brooks-Skinner Company of Quincy, are of permanent construction, very heavily framed and built of the best materials obtainable. A building of this description is large enough to hold two of the largest cars and can be built for about $400.

The Brooks-Skinner Company have built over 15,000 garages in the last twelve years, and through this very large production they are in a position to make a saving in price of twenty-five to forty per cent for their customers.

The Brooks-Skinner Company are also the largest builders of steel garages in New England. Their patented all-steel closed-in garage is recognized as the finest metal garage built in the country today. These metal garages are strong, neat and rigid, and cannot be told from a wood building when painted.

The fireproof qualities embodied in these buildings allow them to be placed much nearer the lot line than a wood building, making it possible for a steel garage to be erected on a lot where otherwise it would be impossible to have a garage.

All Brooks-Skinner Company's are built to meet the requirements

SELLON HOST TO FLINT DEALERS

Optimism Is Keynote of Dinner Speeches at New England Gathering

W. A. Sellon, head of Flint motor interests for the New England States, was host to 175 Flint dealers and salesmen at the dinner and meeting which was held at the Hotel Breuners.

The guest of honor was R. H. Mulch, Vice President and General Manager, Flint Motor Company, and other speakers included G. R. Morris, sales manager, J. H. Newmark, advertising counsel, and W. A. Sellon, H. L. Bailey, Flint branch supervisor, acted as toastmaster.

Reports were received from all over the New England territory which gave evidence that the demand for all Flint models would be particularly brisk this Spring season. The Flint Junior, the latest addition to the Flint line, came in for special attention and this new, low-priced car will be in great demand.

R. H. Mulch, Vice President and General Manager of the Company told those gathered of the plans for the ensuing year, and that Flint production was increasing daily to take care of increased demand, and the Flint plant will be turning out an average of 160 cars a day very shortly.

The Flint plant, he said, was one of the most modern in the world and contained more than a million and a quarter foot of floor space. More than 1,000 Flint dealers are now selling the car in the country. W. A. Sellon spoke enthusiastically of the work being done by the New England dealers and of the increasing number who were taking on the line from day to day.

CHICAGO BUILDING IS BURNED; LOSS $80,000

Chicago, March 8.—The Pullman Market, in the heart of Chicago's wholesale district, was threatened by fire, but the flames were brought under control after the eight-story Federal-Higher Building had been destroyed with an estimated loss of $80,000. An explosion preceded the fire. The authorities have started an investigation.

Its body styles, designed and constructed under the supervision of New York-All-American, Inc., are the most advanced ever developed. All models priced from $1,000 to $2,500. Inducement, an enclosed, but fully equipped except above.

It has won the enthusiasm of leading engineers!

The NEW STUTZ $2995

LEADING American automotive engineers of international reputation have praised this truly remarkable new car in the most enthusiastic of terms. For in this car, seers of the industry recognize the automobile of the future.

And to this enthusiastic endorsement of The NEW STUTZ by the automotive engineering profession there has been added a public approval so instantaneous and decisive as to create a veritable sensation. At all the leading automobile shows retail sales of The NEW STUTZ have broken all sales records for cars in its price-class. This immediate acceptance is conclusive evidence of the car's appeal to the practical motorist.

All this because The NEW STUTZ, while accepting nothing untried, nothing experimental, is the most advanced, the most improved automobile of a decade. It has a much lower center of gravity, giving greater safety and improved roadability; it has a vibrationless motor—the ultimate goal of engineers since the day of the first "one-lunger"; its motor, its rear axle, and its other gears are noiseless—made so by the adoption of advanced design; its worm-drive rear axle, designed and constructed by Timken, improves with use—it is quiet, new and old; properly lubricated the worm and gear are guaranteed by us for two years; its new principle of braking design is more efficient; its Myers' chassis oiling-system is automatically self-lubricating.

Its minor refinements, conveniences, and improvements are too numerous for listing here. In a word, nothing has been omitted, nothing has been neglected that would add to the safety, comfort, and roadability of the car.

You are urged to see The NEW STUTZ because only by seeing this truly advanced automobile can you put yourself abreast of the day and qualify yourself to judge motor cars by the new standard now established.

WOOLEN PROFIT $949,172

New York, March 10 (A.P.)—Net profits of the American Woollen Company for 1925 totaled $949,172 after taxes, charges and depreciation, compared with a net loss of $2,344,420 in 1924, when operations of the Shawshoos and Wolcott Mills were omitted from the statement.

The earnings are equivalent to $1.90 a share on the company's $950,000 preferred stock.

The year's total deficit after the payment of preferred and subsidiary dividends stood at $2,555,875 in contrast with a deficit of $11,949,827 for the preceding year.

The annual report disclosed that more than $5,000,000 which had been held in insurance fund and pension reserves had been restored to the profit and loss surplus, bringing this figure at the end of the year up to $12,224,416, against $22,127,352 the year before.

C. F. Ayer and William Lawton Blake Bryson have been elected directors to succeed F. H. Edgington resigned, and William M. Wood.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Dinner Dance for Youthful Set Will Be Held at the Copley Plaza on Thursday, March 25

THE DANCE GOES MERRILY on as Society's pet diversion—even the schoolboy-and-girl contingents having their fling, with hours, of course, arranged to accord to their years. On March 25 at the Hotel Copley-Plaza comes a second dinner-dance for them.

MRS. DUDLEY R. HOWE, mother of a sub-debante daughter, Mrs. Katherine A. Howe, is arranging the dance in company with a host of other smart women whose households contain young hopefuls.

LIKE UNTO the affairs of their elders, the junior function is of the dinner-dance variety, having scrupulously hosts and hostesses to provide over groups of their intimates. And the hours are from 7 to 11.

VERY BRILLIANT will be next Friday's Senior Dinner Dance, the last of this season's round staged under the suave direction of Ronald C. Lyman and his committee, at which the town's swaggers dance set out in an appearance.

LARGE SUPPER parties are in order—Mrs. J. Lewis Brown will have fourteen at her table opposite the music; the Francis H. Appletons plan a group of ten guests.

Straighten Up! Nicest Laxative, "Cascarets" 10c

Don't stay head-achy, dizzy, sick. Nothing else relieves that bilious, constipated feeling so nicely as candy-like "Cascarets." Take one or two of these pleasant laxative tablets any time, to gently stimulate your bowels. Then you will feel fine, your head becomes clear, stomach sweet, tongue pink, skin rosy. "Cascarets" gently cleanse, sweeten and refresh the entire system. They never gripe, overact or sicken. Directions for men, women and children on each box, any drug-charming wife will decorate the occasion.

Mrs. Alden, ALVAN T. FULLER, Curle Guild and F. Tuckerman Parker will receive, and His Excellency the Governor (who as everyone knows has a magnificent art collection and is devoted to picture auctions and galleries) will look in on the affair.

PORTRAITS ARE Mr. Smith's, I believe, and his painting of Mrs. Fuller and her small children will be one of the opening's most important pieces. The Smith studios are two, in Summer at Rockport (where many artists congregate) and in Winter in the Riverway Studios.

WILL SPEAK AT TAUNTON DINNER

For the first time since their convention, the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lion clubs of Taunton will hold a get-together dinner tonight at Odd Fellows Hall. Following the dinner will be a public meeting of Taunton Town, American Legion, to which Kiwanis, Rotarians and Lions have been invited. James T. Williams, editor of the Boston Evening American, will be a guest and speaker at the get-together dinner and will speak again at the Legion meeting, where he will be introduced by Post Commander Robert M. Leach, former representative in Congress from this district.

TUBERCULOSIS NURSES PLAN GROUP MEETING

Nurses engaged in tuberculosis work in cities and towns in eastern district will hold their first group meeting Tuesday in the Norfolk County Hospital in Braintree. Miss Helen C. Ruffy, field nurse, will preside. Among speakers will be Dr. Sumner H. Lemack, director of division of tuberculosis in the State Department of Health; Dr. Nahum H. Pillsbury, superintendent of the Norfolk Hospital; and Miss Cecilia Lemmer, supervisor of nurses.

MRS. JOHN DOIT entertains, also Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Warren, who have two tables of twelve guests each—all of which insures the Senior Supper Dance going out this season in a blaze of smartness.

A TRULY LENTEN diversion is next Monday's reception and private view at the Vose Galleries in Copley square, when Harold J. Smith's paintings and portraits will be shown. Both Mr. Smith and his

OBSERVE PHONE BIRTHDAY

Today more than 20,000 telephone employees in New England joined with over 300,000 other employees in the Bell System by wearing a specially designed button marking the fiftieth anniversary of the telephone.

The button is one inch in diameter. In the center of a blue background is a reproduction of a modern telephone in black, on either side of which are the figures 5 and 9 in white.

In addition to this public observance of the anniversary every telephone employee received the following message stated by V. E. Telford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company: "To the Men and Women of the Bell System: On March 10, 1876, the first message was transmitted over the telephone. From his labor house at 5 Baxter place, Boston, Alexander Graham Bell telephoned to Thomas A. Watson, his assistant, in another room on the same floor, 'Mr. Watson, come here: I want you.'"

B. C. NIGHT CELEBRATED IN NEW OAK BALLROOM

"Boston College Night" was enjoyed by several hundred dancers at the new Oak Ballroom, Massachusetts avenue and Newbury street, through courtesy of the management of a local theatre, George South gave a special exhibition of eccentric dancing. Lambert's twelve-piece orchestra played for general dancing. The committee in charge of the party included: Miss Mildred Donahue, Miss Mildred Thurlwell, Miss Alice Hennessey, "Sonny" Poppy, Frank Boyd, Gerard Hayes, William Barry, Albert Ward and John Monahan. Elizabeth Walker's Hall has arranged for a collegiate contest next Tuesday evening, with special prizes for the winners.

TELLS OF COREY TALK IN JAIL

The cross-examination of Lieutenant James T. Swan of the Worcester police was resumed today by Attorney William R. Scharton, counsel for Frank Corey, on trial in Superior Court for robbery of Mrs. Mary Price, who was found dead in Hotel Joffre on May 26. Lieutenant Swan denied he had talked with Corey while the latter was in jail charged with the murder of Mrs. Price, but admitted he talked with the defendant when he arrested him. Assistant District Attorney Timothy Callahan objected to questions by Attorney Scharton, and Judge Lourie ruled the previous trial should not be mentioned except where it had a direct bearing on the present case. The witness admitted he had talked with Corey about May Price, and had also talked with him since the first trial. This last conversation, he said, took place in the Worcester courthouse on January 25. He said he thought the warrant for the larceny of the bracelet was procured about October 16. Attorney Scharton's motion for a mistrial was denied by Judge Lourie. Counsel for the defense claimed that taking Corey to Worcester on a habeas corpus while awaiting trial for the Hotel Joffre robbery, and allowing him to plead guilty to larceny, was a trick on the part of the district attorney to prejudice the jury.

Heleen Wills Suggests French Women Invaile America

LENGLEN IN CLASS BY HERSELF

Mrs. Vlasto and Mrs. Contostavio Are Rated Next in Order by American Girl

By HELEN WILLS

Cannes, France, Feb. 16 (By Mail).—The average playing ability among the women participating in the tennis tournaments on the Riviera in France is about the same as at home. There are a number of players who possess a mediocrity good game.

Then, as at home, there are a few figures who stand out as being better than the rest. Of course, Mrs. Lenglen is in a class by herself. Next door to her, there are two rather evenly matched players, Mrs. Contostavio and Mrs. Vlasto, the latter, a finalist in the Olympic singles in 1924.

Mrs. Vlasto is ranked second to Mrs. Lenglen, but recently Mrs. Contostavio's game has shown marked improvement. Mrs. Vlasto plays mainly in the backcourt. She is very steady.

Her forehand stroke is unusually even and accurate. Her backhand is not so fast, but is more dependable than it was in the Olympic final. Light and graceful in her movements, she covers the court easily.

Mrs. Contostavio, of whom American tennis followers have heard, also plays in the backcourt. Her forehand is swift and all of her shots are very reliable. Her ability to cover court is equally as good as that of Mrs. Vlasto. Mrs. Contostavio's temperament is ideally suited for tennis. Also, her manner on the court is pleasing and attractive.

In June she plans to play in the Wimbledon matches. Although she has never played on grass she also does well. Many say that Mrs. Contostavio's game is better than that of Mrs. Vlasto.

The two have not yet met this season, and a match between them is looked forward to by the tennis followers here. It will decide which of the two will take the coveted second place in Mrs. Lenglen's class.

If the French Lawn Tennis Association would decide to send a women's team to America some time to take part in our tournaments, it would add greatly to the season's play. A team composed of Mrs. Lenglen, Mrs. Vlasto and Mrs. Contostavio would be exceedingly popular, like the teams of their countrymen, Bonnier and Le Comte, in the men's events.

STECHER BANKS ON SCISSORS TO DOWN UNKNOWN

By RINGDING

Champion Joe "Bols on Stecher" of Nebraska has arrived in town for his wrestling match on Thursday night with the unknown. That is to say, Stecher is here to defend his title against whoever Paul Bowser, local promoter, might decide to flash him up against.

In a championship bout, two falls in three, with American Association rules governing.

It is able to be any man un der the sun.

Who cares as long as they see Stecher going in for a real battle.

Not for a couple of seasons has the wrestling fans of Boston taken a look at Stecher in action, and the latter is a more advanced man in the mat game than half the people realize.

The wrestling of the evening will be only half of the ability that enabled him to take the crown from Ivan Podgorny.

Since the outset of the season it has been known that Stecher has made things easy for himself by adding the flying scissors to his bag of tricks. This he does live as easily and cleverly as the other world's leading mat star, Lew Latta, applies his flying head lock.

There will be four other bouts, with some of the best wrestling available in this part of the land in one night. Promoters intend to make a champion, in to meet Stecher in a match.

Ty Cobb Tells How He Gets Those Hits

BALTIMORE, March 10 (AP).—A good "batting eye" depends not entirely on good vision, says Ty Cobb, recovering in Johns Hopkins Hospital from an operation for the removal of an ocular growth.

"Don't put too much stress upon the eyesight when speaking of hitting," the Detroit American League manager warns. "I remember one afternoon in New York I had been having trouble with my left eye and you must have confidence. You must have faith in the impact of the bat. I couldn't see a thing out of this left eye."

REVERE ON TOP OF NO. SHORE COURT LEAGUE

By EDDIE DOVIERO

Revere High has earned itself a place on the top of the North Shore League basketball world due to their recent victory over Lynn Classical. Coach "Bob" O'Keefe brought his hoopers along slowly until every member of the warty contest was conversant with his method of attack.

Captain Chet McLaughlin, holder of the schooner low hurdle record, has become a real idol at Lynn.

"Hurdles Never Won Till Tape Is Broken"

This is the final of a series of articles on the hurdles as told by John P. (Doc) Murphy of Boston College, a joint holder of the indoor hurdle record for the 45-yard high hurdle, New England A. A. U. 45-yard indoor hurdle champion and New England Interscholastic 154-yard high hurdle champion.

By DICK MURPHY

As told to Bill Conditine

OLD MURPHYLEY used a typical English style of hurdling in the Penn Relay Carnival last spring. It was radically different from the American style of going over the sticks. He seems to sit on top of each hurdle before he begins his descent to the start. In close work, too, he hurdles differently from the Americans.

The hurdler goes into the air much faster than the hurdler does his brother American in the event. He is not eight feet away from the hurdle when he takes off. He is men can win in both. They have to confine their efforts to the high hurdle or the low hurdle, but two feet or more away and that slows him considerably.

The low hurdles haven't the speed of the Americans, nor have they that flash of pep or dash that the Americans put into their work. The low hurdles are a different group of men from the high hurdle men. They are not as fast as the high hurdle men. They are not as fast as the high hurdle men.

COOK-COOKS

by Ted Cook

EVERY day it becomes more apparent that a crisis is looming on the prohibition issue. A mighty struggle is at hand, with brother against brother in the bootlegging business.

The question seems to be: Should America Try Prohibition?

What the public needs is a chance to sober up and hear both sides of the issue.

Certainly this country cannot progress half blind and half thirsty. Therefore, this department is arranging for a witty, thought-provoking debate on prohibition.

The arguments in favor of prohibition will be prepared by the best man the bootleggers can select.

Others who will be asked to contribute arguments against prohibition are:

Reg. H. L. Menchen.
Farmer Gray.
Jackie Coogan.
Countess Cathcart.
A prominent undertaker.

The case in favor of prohibition will be handled by the Retail Druggists' Association, prominent physicians and the Fountain Pen Manufacturers' League.

Watch the daily papers for further details.

FOXY GRANDPA AND HIS INTERESTING DAILY BEDTIME STORY

By Foxy Grandpa

BOBBY swallowed a large caramel and then looked in the box. There was one left. He politely offered it to me and when I declined ate it himself. He chewed and chewed and then gave a long, lingering swallow.

"I wish I could make them last longer," he said sadly. "I could just chew that caramel for an hour."

Proves Mother is Your Closest Friend

Jersey City, Mr. J. Paul writes:—

"I awakened each morning with an unpleasant taste and was often reminded by my mother that my breath was disagreeable. I tried perfumed tablets, mouth washes and other camouflages which gave temporary relief. After consulting my dentist and finding my teeth in good condition, a friend suggested my trouble was constipation. After taking a few doses of Carter's Little Liver Pills my stomach and bowels were relieved, foul and impure gases eliminated."

The butcher had just delivered the chicken to mother, who had taken it from its wrapping and looking it over. Little Walter looked on quite curiously and spied a ring on one of its feet. Upon seeing this, he exclaimed: "Oh, look ma, the chicken is married."

Then you begin to doubt the sincerity of the "always cheerful one." Don't do it. Don't doubt them. There are a few persons in the world who are well-balanced, full of faith, full of earnest good purpose and trust in God. This makes up to them for losses and their contentment.
